IJsland trekt de teugels aan qua testen voor inkomende reizigers, tweede testmoment interessant..

Alleen een negatieve test uitslag op dag 0 hoeft natuurlijk geen 'false positive' result te zijn..

Dear receivers

For your information the government of Iceland announced today new measures at the Icelandic borders which will be enforced from 19th of august. All persons arriving to Iceland have to undergo Covid -19 test on arrival (unless if they choose to quarantine for 14 days instead), stay in mandatory quarantine for 4-6 days before taking a second test. This is to prevent false-negative results from the first test. Therefore people arriving from Faroe Island, Greenland, Norway, Germany, Denmark and Finland will no longer be exempt from the quarantine and screening requirements.

Best regards,

[redacted]
