COVID-19: We are here for you

Credit Suisse is here for you even in difficult times. As the leading bank for entrepreneurs, we have worked with the federal government and other banks to develop measures that enable us to support businesses in Switzerland quickly and easily. You can find further information here.

Beware! Fraudsters are after your confidential data!

Criminals are exploiting the current uncertain situation surrounding the coronavirus and posing as people you trust – the Federal Office of Public Health (FOPH), the World Health Organization (WHO), Credit Suisse, or even the police – to gain access to your confidential data.

Never share your password or your SecureSign letter and never upload this access data to the internet.

Do not click on any links or open any attachments in suspicious e-mails. It is best to delete such e-mails immediately.

If you notice anything suspicious when you are logging in or afterwards, please contact your advisor or the Online Banking Support immediately.
