Hi [redacted]

To clarify: do you want me to start working on it today, or do you think you'll get it done by Friday?
 All the best

Hi all,

That is great!
 I have a another deadline by this evening, and should be able to free up time from Tuesday onwards.

Thanks 5.1.2e for the update,

I won't have time till Wednesday to add the paragraph in the intro.

I was hoping to send it to the external reviewers by this Friday, so they have two weeks or so to review. Is this realistic for you? 5.1.2e offered to help out, so do let us know.

I'll send a planning e-mail about the remaining steps later today,

With best wishes,

5.1.2e

Hoi 5.1.2e

Attached the latest version of the BR chapter. I will also work on this today.

The main changes I still need to implement:

- BR DALY example
- Incorporate the latest insights on the use of the benefit-risk ratio when including indirect effects

I have this afternoon to work on this.

Challenging times indeed and I sometimes find it difficult to organize my work. I support the post-marketing surveillance activities from the vaccine manufacturers – I'm learning a lot here, but still a bit chaotic, lots of work and 'inefficiencies' as well (probably unavoidable with so many different stakeholders, incl politicians this time...) and evolving knowledge.

Take care, but the vaccines seem to work very well!! I have seen yesterday early results from Moderna – and the protection (antibodies) seem to persist for the few months of data they currently have.

Onderwerp: latest version of your chapter?

Dear 5.1.2e

Hope you are well. Could you perhaps send me the latest version of your chapter? I'm trying to make some time to work on this paragraph for the introduction part.
How are you getting on with it?

With best wishes,

5.1.2e
