Subject: Update on joint procurements and on antigen tests procurement

Dear Joint Procurement Agreement Steering Committee,
Dear Sir or Madam,

Following an update on joint procurements at the Health Security Committee meeting yesterday, we are happy to share the latest status with you in the following link :

<https://circabc.europa.eu/ui/group/eebdec68-587e-4bd3-b228-0f151e80ab63/library/8df645f8-cd29-44de-8dc6-2d783c932677/details>.

Moreover, we would like to thank all countries for their timely replies in scope of the latest consultation on a joint procurement of antigen tests.

Currently, we have received 22 replies from signatories of the Joint Procurement Agreement (JPA), namely:

- 17 countries have expressed interest and submitted their needs
- 2 countries are considering/need more time to compile the needs
- 2 countries have declined interest
- 1 country is interest in other laboratory equipment, but not antigen tests.

We are currently analysing the procurement needs and plan to share the first draft of tender specifications with the participating countries within coming days. The first meeting of the Specific Procurement Procedure Steering Committee (SPPSC) on the key features of procurement approach and documents will be scheduled shortly. (NB: Only the appointed SPPSC members and alternates will be granted access to draft procurement documents and invited to take part in the follow-up meetings on this specific procurement.)

Lastly, we would like to inform you that the joint procurement procedure above will be preceded by procurement of antigen tests using ESI funds, as recently announced by President Von den Leyen.

We are looking forward to receiving your insights on how the afore-mentioned actions could best support your national testing strategies.

Kind regards,

SANTE Joint Procurement Agreement Team

*Sensitive

Dear Joint Procurement Agreement Steering Committee,

Following discussions at the Health Security Committee and in the scope of recent consultation on possible joint procurements, several countries have informed us of their potential interest in a joint procurement of rapid antigen tests and relevant laboratory equipment (optional).

We therefore propose to establish a Specific Procurement Procedure Steering Committee for which we ask you to nominate a member and to submit your needs assessment by 21 October COB by filling-in a survey under this link https://ec.europa.eu/eusurvey/runner/COVID19_diagnostics.

Only the designated members to the Specific Procurement Procedure Steering Committee of the JPA signatories will be invited to the next phases of the process (details of needs, access to procurement documents, and meetings). (Only colleagues having EU login will be able to connect to the EU survey. Instructions on how to create the EU login are enclosed.)

NB: There are existing contracts for certain laboratory equipment, which can be used (to consult the available contracts, please follow this link on Circabc).

Best regards,
